

Project Completion Report: Atelier de la Nature Native Plant Sculptures

Kimberly Hamm

The native plant garden project at Atelier de la Nature, supported in part by the Acadiana Native Plant Project, has been successfully completed. Six metal sculptures representing native plants, adorned with metal bee attachments, were installed in the garden bed to enhance the natural beauty and educational value of the space.

The installation was finalized and showcased to the public during the Halloween Art and Nature Festival held this past weekend, on October 26, 2024. Festival attendees had the opportunity to view and appreciate the new addition to the garden, which celebrates native flora and highlights the importance of pollinator species in local ecosystems.

Please see the attached photos for a glimpse of the installation.
